FOREWORD

2014899

We shall endeavor, in this very incomplete genealogy of Amos Ellis (1780-1856) of New Salem, Mass., to show, as completely as we can, his descent from Thomas Ellis ( ? -1690) and Mary Wight ( ? -1692-3), and his descendants.

At best, this genealogy represents a very small portion of the Ellis Family Genealogy on which we are working, and have been working for more than a decade. Both are still far from complete. A perusal of this small part of the larger genealogy will show how difficult it is to obtain complete information.

We are hopeful that this brief genealogy, which is really more of a questionnaire than a genealogy, will result in our being able to complete more of the individuals' records listed, and in this hope we are sending two copies of it to you, trusting that you will make any corrections, additions, or changes in the questionnaire copy of which you have knowledge, and return it to us, so that this portion of the genealogy, when published in the larger volume in the course of preparation, will be more correct and more complete than it now is.

The scope of the larger work is truly tremendous, for we are endeavoring to trace and complete the records of every descendant of Thomas Ellis and Mary Wight, whether he bears the name of Ellis or not. Already our research has located nearly 6,000 descendants, of whom some 600 are living, and we have barely begun to scratch the surface.

It is important, therefore, that we try to "clean up" our work as we proceed, and it is with this idea in mind that we are having this pamphlet printed. Your co-operation in supplying us with any information, or surmises as to where we can obtain further information, therefore, will be appreciated. Please look over carefully one copy of this pamphlet, mark in such corrections or additions as you can, and return it to Albert T. Ellis, Box 28, East Hampton, Conn.

1. The purpose of this report is to provide a summary of the results of the study conducted by the author. The study was designed to investigate the effects of the independent variable on the dependent variable. The results of the study are presented in the following sections.

2. The first section of the report describes the methodology used in the study. This includes a description of the participants, the experimental design, and the data collection procedures. The second section presents the results of the study, including the mean scores and standard deviations for each condition.

3. The third section discusses the implications of the findings for practice and research. The results of the study suggest that there is a significant relationship between the independent variable and the dependent variable. This finding has important implications for the field of study and for the development of interventions. The final section of the report provides a conclusion and recommendations for future research.

4. The study was limited by several factors, including the sample size and the duration of the study. Future research should aim to address these limitations by conducting a larger study with a longer duration. The results of the study are consistent with previous research in the field, which suggests that there is a significant relationship between the independent variable and the dependent variable.

5. The study was conducted in a controlled environment, which may limit the generalizability of the findings. Future research should aim to replicate the study in a more naturalistic setting. The results of the study are consistent with previous research in the field, which suggests that there is a significant relationship between the independent variable and the dependent variable. The study was limited by several factors, including the sample size and the duration of the study.

Thomas Ellis was the first ancestor of Amos Ellis to settle in America. It is not known when he came here, but William S. Tilden, author of "History of the Town of Medfield, Massachusetts, 1650-1886," asserts that he "came from Dedham to Medfield in the end of 1651 or the beginning of 1652 . . . His house was evidently built as early as 1653, and he married" Mary Wight on May 21, 1657, in Medfield. Mary was the daughter of Thomas and Alice Wight. Her mother's maiden name is not known; also her birth date and place of birth. From what part of England Thomas came, the date and place of his birth, and the names of his parents, are not known. He died in Medfield on December 12, 1690, and his wife died in Medfield on March 7, 1692-3. They had three boys and six girls.

Samuel Ellis, son of Thomas and Mary, was born November 9, 1661, in Medfield, and died there on November 9, 1712. He married Deborah Lovell, daughter of Alexander and Lydia (Leland) Lovell, but where and when are not known. Deborah was born in Medfield on December 20, 1675, and died there on June 15, 1740. They had four boys and five girls.

Timothy Ellis, son of Samuel and Deborah, was born August 9, 1704, in Medfield, and died September 6, 1736, in Medway, Mass. He married Hannah Adams on January 1, 1730-1, in Medway.
